Fall Sports Kickoff Starts Seasons Off Right 👍

Last Friday, our sports teams competed against each other at the Fall Sports Kickoff. It was a fun time, and some things were different this year. The athletes didn't get announced, there were no high fives, and the little girls didn't dance or cheer at the end. It sure helped us get ready for our first competitions this week, though! Go Panthers!

Classes Head Outside

Teachers have been taking their kids outdoors for class to make social distancing easier. Gotta love the fresh air!

Meet Crouchie Toes 🐾

Thursday during first hour English class, Mrs. Ifland's students noticed a yellow kitten under the cars in the parking lot. They coaxed him out and bonded with him, then he wanted to come in!

Students Eat Up This Year's Lunch Changes 🍔🍕🥗🥤

Well, lunch is certainly different these days! This year most students eat in teachers' rooms instead of the cafeteria. We asked them how they feel about this change.

"No, it's not the best."

-Katrina Russell

"Yes, because it's good."

-Blake Buresh

"I kinda like it because we watch movies."

-Ryleigh Seems

"Yes, because you get to sit by your friends."

-Carter Grote

THIS WEEK'S SECRET STUDENTS

Miller Joins PJH Staff

This year we have a new janitor at the middle school, Michael Miller. We asked him what he likes about working here, and he said, "It's smaller and I don't really know yet." Maybe we'll ask him again later in the year! Haha!

New Para Joins Team

We also have a new para helping out! Her name is Sharon McKenna. She has never worked as a para before. In fact, she was a college professor before. She said, "I like interacting with the kids and helping them." Welcome to PJH!
